

Authoritarian North Korea

The leader of North Korea is Kim _____ Un.

How he came to power: He is the son and grandson of political leaders. Kim's grandfather, Kim Il-sung, was the founder and led North Korea from 1948 to 1994. His father was North Korea's second leader from 1994 to 2011. Kim Jong Un has been the Supreme Leader of North Korea since 2011.

Characteristics of authoritarianism:

Does not allow other _____

Tells its people that their harsh laws are necessary to combat _____

Strict laws _____ people (3 generations of punishment).

Power can change if the _____ says so.

Here, is an example of billboard propoganda in North Korea. It promotes the military first theory of Kim Jong Un's regime.

There is only _____ political party in North Korea

A Cult of _____ is when the leader is able to convince the people that they are godlike. All three North Korean leaders have done this over time.

Although he is dead, _____ Il Sung is still the president of Korea.

If someone commits a crime against North Korea, _____ of the family will be imprisoned.

In North Korea, there is _____ person who has control of all branches of government.